Interactive Training Sessions

iFit trainers move your transformation forward by interacting with and controlling the SMART Pro 5000's speed and incline.

Streaming Global and Studio Class Workouts

See the world while you run through cities and trails, or get pushed in a studio class, all while being led by a personal trainer in your home.

Connected Fitness Tracking

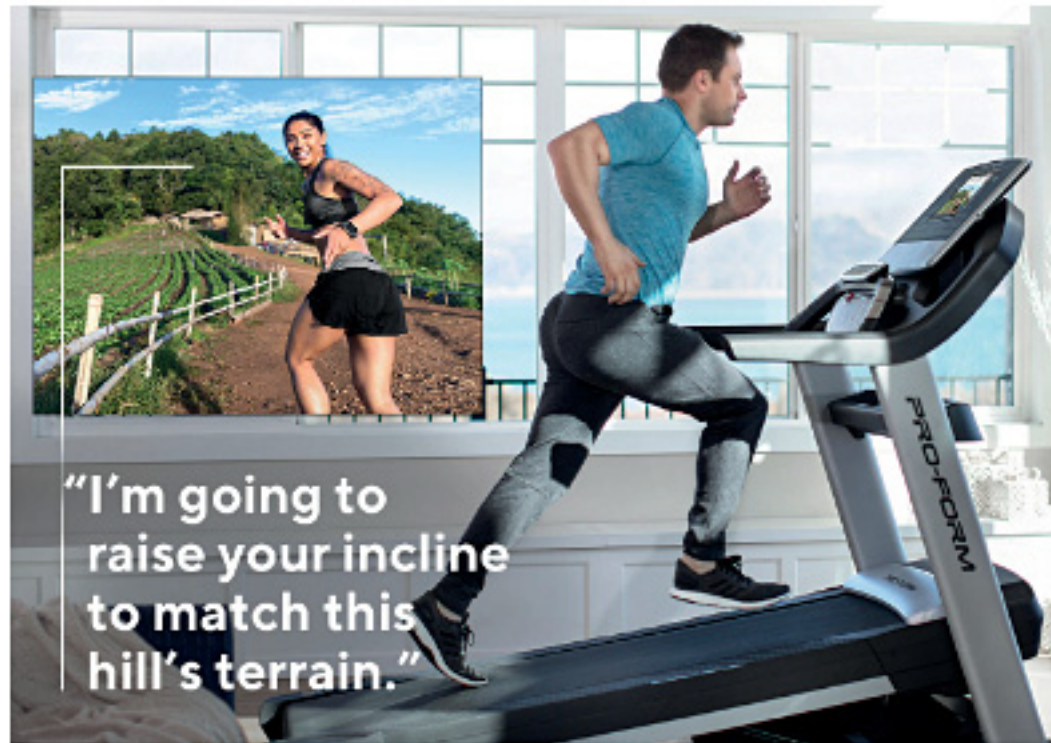

Check your progress as every training session is automatically recorded and even used to influence future exercises and nutrition plans.

Feel the Cooling Breeze

Our built-in CoolAire™ fan keeps your workout comfortable from the moment you step onto the deck to the moment you step off. Choose from three speed settings for instant control—because one of the joys of indoor workouts is climate control. Even if it's raining, foggy, blazing hot, or bad air quality outside—you'll be comfortable in your home.

Train Higher. Train Harder.

Run for the Hills—and Valleys

Whether you're following your trainer through limit-pushing studio workout classes or throughout the most beautiful locations in the world, the Pro 5000 lets your trainer automatically control your speed and incline, from a -3% grade up to 15%, to realistically match the terrain of the workout.

Motor Strength for Every Workout

When you work out with our trainers, you'll be taken up hills and through valleys at all sorts of speeds. The motor on the Pro 5000 sports a heavy 3.75 continuous horsepower drive system that cools itself as it runs and is guaranteed for life not to fail you no matter how often your incline or speed changes.

Speed and Incline at the Touch of a Button

Whether your trainer is pushing you harder than you'd like or you just get the urge to sprint, you have complete control over your workout with just the touch of a button. Quickly change your speed or incline without breaking your stride or concentration.

Perfect for the Home

From Couch to 5K—All in the Same Room

The best training comes from following someone who knows what they're doing. And what better place to work out than inside your home? With interactive personal training and a machine that's designed for your home, the Pro 5000 brings knowledge and convenience together to give you the right tools to reach your fitness goals.

Room for Confidence in Every Step

Give your legs plenty of room to get moving. The expansive 60" length is long enough to let you stretch out your stride, and the huge 22" width provides you with loads of comfortable elbow room. To ensure our treadmills are top quality, we test each belt for one million cycles at double the user weight before release.

Folding for Freedom

The last thing you need is something taking up more space around your house. That's why we engineered the Pro 5000 with SpaceSaver® Design, so you can conveniently fold the deck up and out of the way. And as an added bonus, we built in a powerful shock called EasyLift™ Assist that helps you lift and lower the deck with an easy push.

Smart and Beautiful

10" of Swipeable High Definition

Stay captivated and motivated as you follow along with your favorite trainers guiding your workout through beautiful scenery around the world or throughout studio classes. Run and view the 10" touchscreen at optimal viewing distance while easily swiping through and checking on your workout stats.
