WHY YOU NEED TO BE PREPARED...

Disasters can happen any time, anywhere. They can be natural or manmade, so it's vital to be prepared.

Earthquakes, hurricanes, tornados, fires and floods can cause widespread destruction. The 9/11 tragedy also opened our eyes to the reality that we face the threat of terrorist attacks.

The first 72-hour period after an emergency is the most critical. First-responders may not be able to reach you within that time frame, so to ensure your survival have 3-day

Emergency Kits on hand. They contain the three basic lifesaving essentials - food, water and a blanket - as recommended by the American Red Cross.

The food and water in these Emergency Kits have a 5-year shelf life. It is recommended to keep one in each location where you spend 4 hours or more on a regular basis - your home, office, car, or even at school. Don't be caught unprepared in a disaster. Your survival and that of your loved ones could depend on it!
