Mat Technology

What Is Advanced Polyurethane Technology?

APT stands for Advanced Polyurethane Technology, WellnessMats revolutionary, and proprietary engineered material system. It is the key to our comfort, performance, and longevity. It's also the key to why we are the leading anti-fatigue mat on the market today.

The core of APT is polyurethane - the premium standard for anti-fatigue mats. Yes, it is more expensive than other commonly used materials, but it provides exceptional value over time, giving WellnessMats an extended life cycle making them environmentally friendly since the need to dispose and/or replace is infrequent. Unlike other mats - such as foam mats or gel mats, WellnessMats are resistant to almost everything and do not lose their 'bounce' over time. Many of our competitors' products wear through or lose their bounce within the first year of use as well as curl and delaminate. You will never get this kind of poor performance from a WellnessMat.

What Does APT Mean For You?

It is our APT that creates the comfort and longevity of our mats - it's permanently locked into every fiber so the mats will never de-laminate or curl at the edges. They will remain as buoyant and resilient on day 2,555 as they were on day 1. In fact, we are so confident in our mats, we offer a comprehensive 20-year performance warranty.

OUR APT AND REVOLUTIONARY DESIGN GUARANTEES THE FOLLOWING:

- Superior Comfort and Support
